DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 29, 30, 35, 38 and 39, drawn to a device, classified in class 435, subclass 19.
- II. Claims 31-34, drawn to a kit, classified in class 435, subclass 19.
- III. Claim 36, drawn to a database, classified in class 707, subclass 1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The inventions of Groups I and III, Groups II and III are each directed to unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the database of Group III is not disclosed as capable of use together because a database needs to be operated on a computer, has different structure and design, and different effects. Device/kit comprise many method steps while a database is a large collection of organized data. Therefore, the Groups I and III, Groups II and III are each distinct.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Moreover, the search required is distinct based on the distinct structures and mode of operation as noted above. Thus, to search the database with the device/kits would be unduly burdensome. Therefore, Group I and Group II are properly restricted from Group III as being distinct and unduly burdensome to be searched together.

The device of Group I, and the kit of Group II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, the device of Group I can be used to detect enzyme activity without the kit of Group II. See MPEP § 806.05(d). Furthermore, the kit of Group II has a materially different design such as a chromogenic substrate as evidenced by the claim thus has a different mode of detection.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purpose as indicated is proper. While Groups I and II can be identically classified under U.S. Patent Classification guidelines, to search them together would present a search burden on the Examiner. For example, claims in Group I, drawn to a device, must be searched not only in the field of protein/enzyme, but also in textual database of handheld device system. Thus, Groups I and II have been appropriately restricted on the basis of being both independent or distinct and presenting a search burden on the Examiner if they were to be searched together.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
